ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A shower screen shield includes a shower curtain made of a solid color fabric with a plurality of hanging rings equidistantly attached at the top side thereon to be sequentially led through a hanging rod for location thereby. Both the front and the rear sides of the shower curtain are coated with a layer of waterproof material respectively wherein the front waterproof material is preset with a plurality of water-absorbing invisible or hidden diagram areas figured with diagrams of various designs. In case the shower curtain is in contact with hot steam or water, the hidden diagram areas thereof will absorb the water or moisture pervading in the air and the hidden diagrams thereof will be gradually revealed in different shades, providing a fresh and appealing visual effect in bathing so as to improve the quality of daily life as well as to attract the curiosity of children and make bathing more interesting to them. Besides, both the front and rear material of the shower curtain can also be preset with hidden diagram areas that are arranged in an alternative manner to provide an appealing decoration in bathing.
